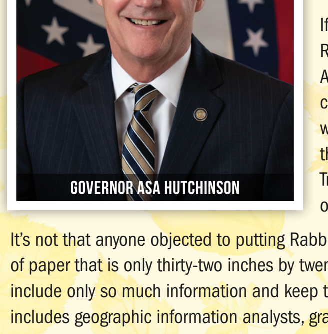
A MESSAGE FROM THE Governor



GOVERNOR ASA HUTCHINSON

WELCOME TO Arkansas!

If you've ever found your way to Rabbit Ridge using the Official Arkansas State Highway Map, you can thank the late Jim Nabors, whose ten-year campaign persuaded the Arkansas Department of Transportation to put his community on the map.

It's not that anyone objected to putting Rabbit Ridge on the map. But on a piece of paper that is only thirty-two inches by twenty-two inches, the mapmakers can include only so much information and keep the words legible. The map team includes geographic information analysts, graphic designers, quality-assurance and quality-control specialists, and cartographers, who assemble all the information into the map.

They are careful to spell everything correctly, which is a big task when you consider, for example, that the map includes six Cross Roads, including one about an inch and a quarter east of Rabbit Ridge that is spelled as one word, Crossroads.

The Official Arkansas State Highway Map offers information about hundreds of towns and famous byways, such as the Damascus Road, which leads to Damascus (at D-5 on the Official Arkansas State Highway Map; Population 382). The road to Success (A-8, Population 149), which is just east of the Supply route (Also A-8, not enough people to count).

Speaking of counting people, this edition of the map includes the populations as collected by the 2020 U.S. Census.

New items on this calendar include the tidbit that in February 2021, the Federal Highway Administration designated the Great River Road as an All-American Road.

The map you hold in your hands is a piece of art really, a portrait of the Natural State that will get you where you need to go, including home Sweet Home (E-6), which, now that I think of it, is a good nickname for Arkansas.
