As a result of the thorough review conducted in 2016, twenty-three statutes were revised and one new statute was enacted during the 2017 legislative session. The Director obtained sponsors in the House and Senate and statutory changes were incorporated into one bill that successfully passed in both houses. The Governor signed the changes into law as Act 497 of 2017. The Commission immediately began considering rule changes to comply with Act 497. Changes were required on ten CLEST regulations and six CLEST specifications.

Significant Statutory changes included:

- Provided the Commission discretion in granting extensions of time to attend the Academy;
- Granted the Director authority to temporarily suspend a law enforcement officer's ability to serve as a law enforcement officer;
- Administrative penalties related to violations of Commission rules; and
- Granted the Commission subpoena power

In the summer of 2017, CLEST staff developed a comprehensive strategic plan for the agency. The plan included rewriting the CLEST mission statement and establishing future goals for the agency.

In late 2017, CLEST announced the roll out of its online ACADIS Portal. The portal allowed individual and agency access to officer training and employment records. Agency Portal use increased steadily throughout the remainder of 2017. Work processes requiring implementation or modification were identified with input from law enforcement agencies throughout the State. The Standards Office continues to work with agencies to identify areas that may need modification or clarification.

In late 2017, Governor Hutchinson announced a comprehensive rule review process for state agencies. Act 781 required each state agency, board, commission, department, and office to review its rules and complete a report identifying unnecessary or outdated rules for repeal. The Office of Law Enforcement Standards completed the initial report, due in late 2017, on behalf of the Commission.

In September, 2017 CLEST hired staff attorney Amanda Yarbrough. Amanda's primary responsibilities include decertification hearings, research, legal instructor at ALETA, maintaining up-to-date CLEST employee policies, and FOIA compliance. She also manages the Standards Office website and assists in preparing agency reports.

The Central Law Enforcement Academy, through a partnership with Camp Robinson, began its inaugural basic academy class on February 27, 2017. Central ALETA was created as a resource for law enforcement agencies in Central Arkansas as an alternative to sending new recruits to Camden or Springdale for basic training. Through the tireless efforts of Supervisor Mosley and CLEST staff, Central ALETA continued to grow throughout 2017 and has proven to be a valuable resource for the Central Arkansas law enforcement community. CLEST would like to thank all of the agencies and individuals that offered their time and resources to help grow Central ALETA into a top-tier training academy.

Central ALETA held two basic academies in 2017, resulting in 58 new Arkansas law enforcement officers.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

Act 683 of 1985 (codified as Ark. Code Ann. 12-10-301 et seq.) created the Arkansas Emergency Telephone Services Board. The Board is primarily responsible for promulgating rules related to emergency telephone services. Act 640 of 2011 brought several changes to public safety communication. The Act charged the Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Training and the Arkansas Law Enforcement Training Academy (a branch of CLEST) with developing and administering training for telecommunicators. Act 919 of 2015 brought more changes, charging the Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Training with maintaining training records for Arkansas dispatchers and telecommunicators.
