COMMISSION

The Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Training (CLEST) was created in 1975 for the purpose of establishing minimum selection and training standards for admission to employment as a law enforcement officer in Arkansas. All applicants for law enforcement positions must meet the requirements established by CLEST and complete CLEST-approved training to obtain certification. The commission is comprised of a director and ten members representing law enforcement, education, and the general public that meet quarterly to review training and certification matters.

DIRECTOR

On January 14, 2015, Jami Cook was appointed by Governor Asa Hutchinson as the Director of the Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Training. Prior to appointment, Jami served as the Arkansas State Police Program Director, responsible for policies, procedures, training, strategic planning, research and development, and special projects. In 2009, Jami was appointed as a Commissioner to the Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Training where she served until her appointment as director in 2015. Jami started her law enforcement career as a Newport Police officer in 1994.

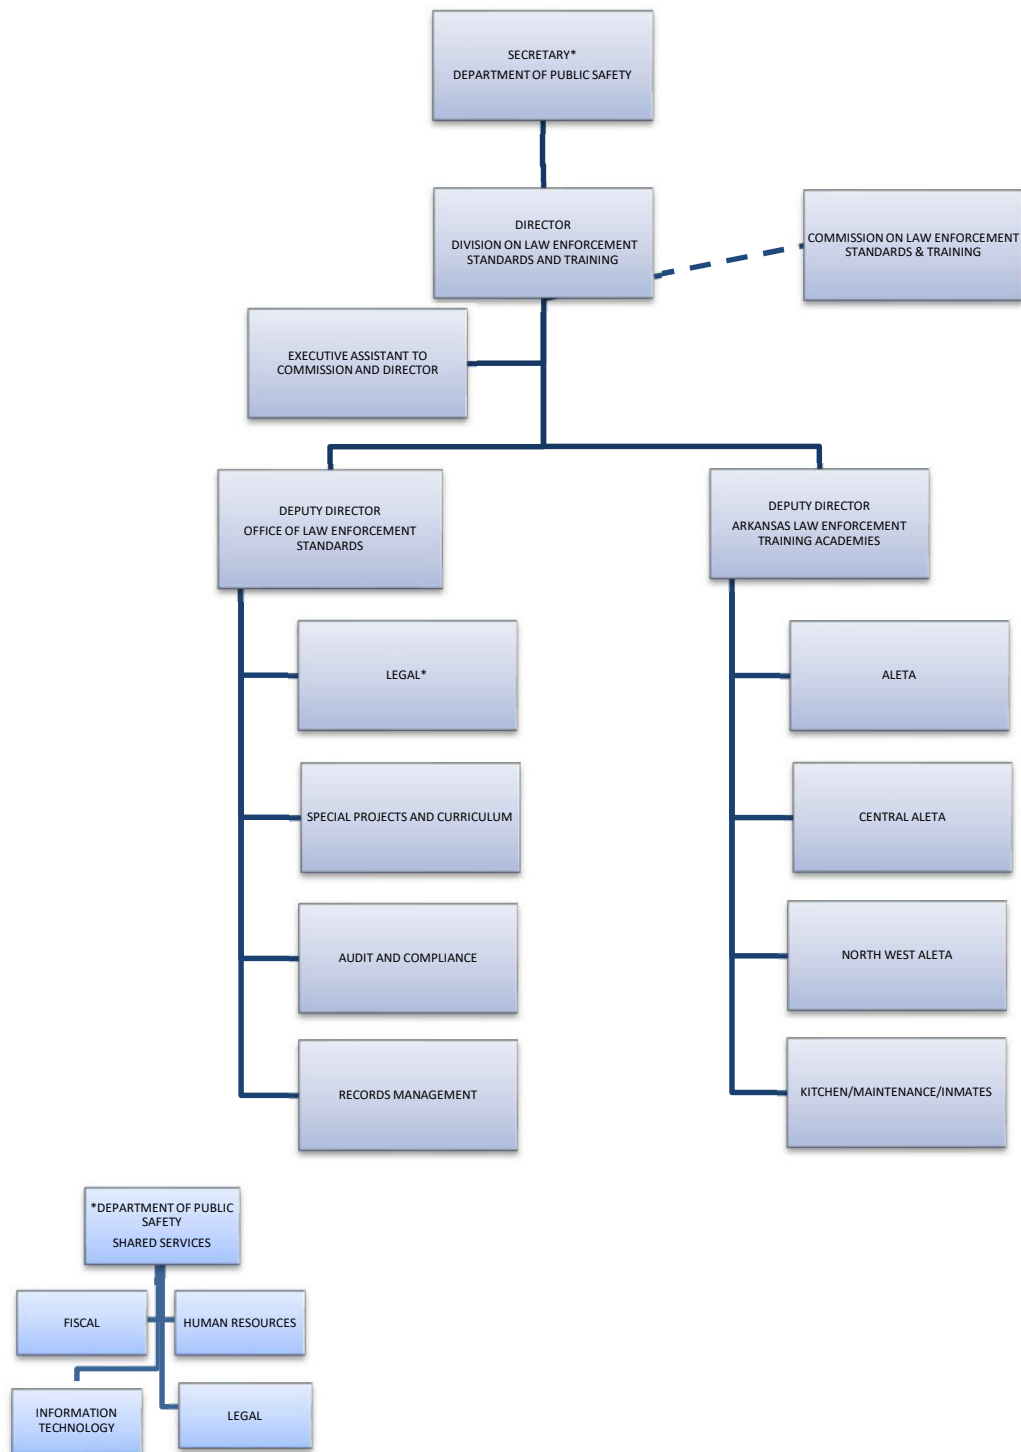

In 2019, Jami had the honor of serving the following boards and committees:

- Arkansas Levee Task Force-Chair
- International Association of Directors of Law Enforcement Standards and Training 2nd Vice President
- International Association of Directors of Law Enforcement Standards and Training Personnel Committee
- Arkansas Attorney General's Missing Persons Working Group
- Arkansas Association of Chiefs of Police Model Policy and Accreditation Committee
- Arkansas Association of Chiefs of Police Education Committee
- International Association of Chiefs of Police National Consortium on Preventing Law Enforcement Suicide
- Prescription Drug Overdose Advisory Council
- Tactical Emergency Casualty Care (TECC) Stakeholders Group

In addition to her responsibilities as the CLEST Director, on July 1, 2019, Director Cook was appointed by Governor Asa Hutchinson as Secretary of the newly formed Department of Public Safety. As Secretary, Jami is responsible for the oversight and management of CLEST, the Division of Arkansas State Police, Arkansas Division of Emergency Management, Arkansas Crime Information Center, Arkansas Crime Victims Reparations Board, Arkansas State Crime Lab, and various other boards and commissions.

STANDARDS

The Commission establishes the minimum selection and training standards for admission to employment as a law enforcement officer in the State of Arkansas. All applicants for law enforcement employment must meet the requirements established by the Commission and complete Commission-approved training to obtain certification. Commissioned law enforcement officers must continue to meet minimum standards in order to maintain their law enforcement status. The Office of Law Enforcement Standards oversees employment, training, and certification requirements established by the Commission.

The 2019 legislative session convened on January 14, 2019. CLEST's proposed legislation passed the General Assembly as Act 151 of 2019. Act 151 implemented several new changes for CLEST and law enforcement, including:

- Eliminated "Part-Time I" and "Part-Time II" law enforcement officer designations;
- Changed the definition for "Full-Time" and "Part-Time" law enforcement officers;
- Required the Commission to issue radar certificates to officers that meet the requirements for obtaining a radar certificate prior to operating a radar device; and
- Granted the Commission the statutory authority to have a criminal file "unsealed" in order to determine eligibility for certification.

Act 910 of 2019 separated the Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Training from the staff that is employed to carry out the daily operations of the Commission's mission. CLEST staff is now employed by the Division on Law Enforcement Standards and Training, a state Division of the Arkansas Department of Public Safety.

Act 910 also moved the Law Enforcement Support Office (LESO) under the Department of Public Safety. The LESO office is now housed at the CLEST Office of Law Enforcement Standards in Little Rock.

Act 920 of 2019 required all law enforcement officers in the State of Arkansas to complete training related to the investigation of unidentified and missing persons. Following the passing of the Act, the Commission developed and published an online course, free of charge, on its LMS system.

Act 629 of 2019 allowed for the appointment of an officer as an “institutional law enforcement officer” at a public elementary or secondary school.

Following the 2019 legislative session, the Commission approved the following changes to its rules, to be effective January 1, 2020:

- Increase officer training requirements from sixteen hours annually to twenty-four hours annually;
- Consolidate CLEST Regulations and Specifications into one set of CLEST “Rules” in compliance with Act 315 of 2019;
- Incorporate changes associated with Act 910 of 2019;
- Eliminate the forty hour “refresher” course and establish the one hundred and ten hour Part-Time curriculum as the required curriculum for all officers that have been out of law enforcement for more than three years or that are transferring from another state or federal agency; and
- Clarify the duties of a specialized law enforcement officer.

Following the implementation of Act 910, ALETA began providing auto shop services for Department of Public Safety fleet vehicles located in the Southeast region of the State. In order to accommodate Department fleet needs, a second car lift, new tire machine, new tire balance machine, wash bay, storage building, and engine diagnostic software were added to the ALETA auto shop.

Renovations to the ALETA campus for 2019 include:

- Flooring in North Dorm
- New heating and cooling in the south dorm and lobby area.
- Road resurfacing.

*ALETA thanks the many partners that contributed to the energy efficient renovation efforts through grant funding.

In 2019, a new 911 building was constructed on the ALETA-Camden campus. The new 911 building is equipped with video/audio capabilities and serves as a premier training center for the state's telecommunications personnel. The first basic course was held in the new building from July 29-August 2, 2019. A second basic training course was held in December utilizing the new 911 facility.

In October 2019, the State APCO/NENA conference was certified by Standards with 16 hours of training. Approximately 80 students attended the event.

Throughout 2019, a Dispatch Response to Active Shooter course was developed and piloted to the telecommunications industry with the plan of fully implementing the course in 2020.

Telecommunicators are encouraged to attend the CIT course to help them with identifying potential callers in need.

LESO

James was selected as the Arkansas Law Enforcement Support Office (LESO) State Point of Contact in February, 2014. Prior to working for the LESO program, James worked for the North Little Rock Police Department and the Arkansas State Capitol Police.

After leaving law enforcement, James worked at ADEM / Federal Surplus Property as the compliance and eligibility branch manager.

James' experience in law enforcement and excess government property allocation and compliance is a perfect match for the Arkansas Law Enforcement Support Office program. James serves on the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) Law Enforcement Support Office state working group as a permanent member to assist DLA with policy and oversight of the LESO program. CLEST is pleased to welcome James to CLEST and DPS.

The National Defense Authorization Act authorizes the Secretary of Defense to transfer excess Department of Defense (DOD) personal property to local law enforcement agencies with special emphasis given to counter-drug and counter-terrorism. The Arkansas Law Enforcement Support Office (LESO) program (formerly the 1208 program) allows law enforcement agencies to receive DOD excess property. Vehicle and Asset Management, through an agreement between the Defense Logistics Agency and the State of Arkansas, has been charged with the administration of the program.

The Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) defines eligible participants for the LESO program as government agencies whose primary function is the enforcement of applicable federal, state, and local laws, and whose compensated law enforcement officers have powers of arrest and apprehension. All DOD excess property can be used for counter-drug and other law enforcement activities with the exception of the operation of jails. This applies to all property acquired in the future or any property previously acquired through the DOD 1033 Program. The program allows representatives to be eligible to screen military bases for excess DOD property suitable for law enforcement use. Eligible organizations may participate in this program by paying a service fee per allocated item or annual fee based on the number of sworn officers. The law enforcement agency (LEA) must have a current State Plan of Operation (SPO) form completed and a current application on file with the Arkansas LESO office.

In 2019, LESO allocated more than 8 million dollars in equipment to law enforcement agencies across the State of Arkansas, including: Pulaski County Sheriff's Office, Springdale Police Department, Benton Police Department, Elkins Police Department, Saline County Sheriff's Office, North Little Rock Police Department, Craighead County Sheriff's Office, Mountain Home Police Department, CLEST, Siloam Springs Police Department, Prairie Grove Police Department, Craighead County Sheriff's Office and others.
